Boulder Clubroom Update

Progress since last month: An electrical line has been added, supplying power to the west side of the main room; climbing anchors have been installed on the walls for spring climbing classes (and decoration); the illuminated sign was moved to the new location, albeit sans illumination.

Still on the agenda: The front room is still fairly cheerless, and we could really use old rugs or armchairs to decorate it. Shelving and/or a cabinet also need to be constructed in the bathroom to hold supplies.
