Boulder Group Overview TONIGHT

The first Boulder Group Overview meeting (previously called "Open House") of 2017 will be Thursday, January 12th, 7-8:30pm in the Clubroom. Led by trip leader Bryan Costanza, this is a great opportunity for new or prospective CMC members to find out what the Club is all about, and how to explore your interests further.

Can You Spare a PC?

The current desktop PC in the Clubroom is starting to fail, and we'd love to replace it with a newer, used one. If you have one you're willing to donate (preferably one that runs Windows), please contact clubroom@cmcboulder.org or call 303-554-7688.

Denver Group Bringing Climbing Self-Rescue 2 Class to Boulder

Jerry Allen and Bill Haneghan of the Denver Group will be teaching this advanced rock climbing self-rescue class in the Boulder Clubroom on 3/21 and 3/23 with a field trip on 3/25. You will learn how to get out of difficult situations, using only the people in your group and the gear you have with you. Class size is very limited, and we're especially interested in enrolling Boulder group members who have an interest in teaching this class in the future. If you fit that description, please contact brs@cmcboulder.org.

Looking for Clubroom Hosts!

Hosts attend to routine maintenance tasks like checking voicemails, emails, etc., Tuesdays and Thursdays from 5-7 p.m. We'd love to get some new names on the hosting calendar. To volunteer, please email clubroom@cmcboulder.org or call 303-554-7688.
